World News In Brief

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Government officials sent relief supplies today to Bushire, Persian gulf port where more than 1,500 persons were reported killed by a series of sharp earthquakes.

Twenty villages in the area were reported destroyed and thousands of inhabitants injured by the quakes which began last Wednesday. Reports of the disaster were delayed in reaching Tehran by breaks in communications to Bushire, 500 miles south of the capital.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—(CP)—The multiple drowning of a mother and her two young children in Long Lake, near Sudbury, was among seven week-end fatalities recorded by the Canadian Press in Eastern Canada.

Ontario accidents claimed six of the total while a traffic fatality near Montreal—one of three—accounted for the other victim.

Two lives were lost in Ontario traffic mishaps and a young boy died from a bullet wound received when accidentally shot by his father.

Oslo, Norway, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Police today said two Norwegian fishing boats and their crews totalling 16 men were believed lost during a hurricane off the North Norway coast last Wednesday.

Wreckage from one of the boats, the Harmon, was found washed ashore. Police said the cutter may have struck a reef or broken apart while running down wind.

Parts of the wheelhouse from the other vessel, the Brott I, were found yesterday. Police said they feared that vessel was lost but an air-sea search would be continued today.

Six men were aboard the Brott I, 10 were in the Harmon.

Halifax, Jan. 30.—(CP)—Five week-end fires in Nova Scotia destroyed a two-flat house, a bakery, farm machinery, a brickshed, damaged two barns and claimed the lives of two cows. Damage was estimated at more than $255,000.

A cat's insistent meowing led to the rescue of the lives of Edward Creighton and his wife, his owners, when fire broke out in their apartment at Antigonish, Creighton discovered the roof of the one-time curling rink in which he lived ablaze when he let the cat out.

Creighton, his wife and their daughter left in their night clothes through a window he smashed with his fist. The cat apparently re-entered the building and was not saved.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—(CP)—Officials of the Toronto Typographical Union yesterday were instructed by the membership to seek permission from international headquarters of the union for strike action against Toronto commercial printing firms.

A mass meeting voted unanimously to support the committee's recommendation for rejection of the conciliation board's award of a five-cent increase. The union seeks an increase of 27½ cents an hour.

Churchill Charges Cabinet Dissipated U.S. Help Funds

London, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Quebec, not Utopia. That, says Winston Churchill, is the goal Britain's Labor Government is seeking.

Accepting the Conservative nomination from Woodford district for the Feb. 23 general election, the leader of the Tory opposition said Labor Party Socialists have promised children will be at the head of the queue in social services.

"Why should queues become a permanent, continuous feature of our life. Here we see clearly what is in their minds," he said Saturday night.

Churchill accused Prime Minister Attlee's Government of squandering a great part of United States air funds on American films, tobacco, and non-essential foods and fruits, instead of devoting it to re-equipment of British industry and basic food imports.

Britain's return to "Solvency, security and independence" has been prevented, he continued, "not only by the incompetence and maladministration of the Socialist government and their wild extravagance, but even more by the spirit of class hatred which they have spread throughout the land, and by the costly, and wasteful nationalization of a fifth part of our industries."

Replying to Churchill, Maurice Webb, Labor Member of Parliament, called the Conservative leader's conception of life in Britain "dangerously unreal."

Improved Flying Conditions Speeding Search For Missing U.S. Plane And 44 Occupants

Husband Tells Of Grim Vigil In Northland

By M'Sgt. Robert Espe, United States Air Force, as told to Graham Trotter, Canadian Press Staff Writer (Robert Espe, a radio operator attached to 6th radar unit of the United States Air Force at Elmendorf Field, Anchorage, Alaska, is the husband of Mrs. Joyce Espe, 29, missing with their 20-month-old son, Victor, along with 42 other persons on the U.S. C-54 transport plane somewhere in the Yukon. He gives the following account.)

Whitehorse, Y.T., Jan. 30.—(AP)—I've gone through all the hysterics and have cried myself silly.

I believe that due to the fact conditions in the area where the plane last was reported were good, and that it was daylight last Thursday when it disappeared, the plane could have made a normal ditching-procedure landing in some clear spot. If it did, I'm sure my wife and little son are still alive.

My wife was seven months pregnant and because her health was not good in the Alaskan climate, she was going to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Vagneur in Rifle, Colo., and have the baby there.

She was scheduled to take another plane out of Anchorage. But it was to have left three hours later than the one she finally boarded which was making a direct run to Great Falls, Mont.

I was at the field to see her and Victor off. But after a run down the field the plane failed to take off because of the failure of feathering motor in one of the propellers, a very minor thing that caused a three-hour delay.

The plane crew had fitted all the passengers with parachutes. My last words to Joyce were, "If you have to jump, give the baby to Sgt. Roy Jones, of Marietta, Ga." She said she would. Sgt. Jones was to have been discharged on arrival at Great Falls. Seeing him off was his fiancée, Cecilia Iros of Los Angeles, whom he was to marry shortly.

Thursday afternoon when I heard the plane was missing I got emergency leave. I arrived in Whitehorse Saturday and stayed in the rescue operations room all night. On Sunday morning I boarded the first search plane to leave the base. We were out for about nine hours.

During the flight, we landed at Snag, where the plane last made radio contact. I made a point of talking with the radio operators there who had received the report. They figured the aircraft was about 25 miles south of Snag. They also said they were shocked immediately they received the radio report from the plane because they figured it was sent from a Gibson Girl—a set used for emergencies. Being a radio operator myself and after talking with

Two Mountainous, Heavily-Timbered Areas Near Whitehorse To Be Searched As Northern Hunt Intensifies.

Whitehorse, Y.T., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Search for a missing United States transport plane and its 44 occupants turned today to two mountainous, heavily-timbered areas northwest of here. They were by-passed earlier in the gigantic aerial search because of bad weather.

The hunt from the sky, greatest search in Canada, has covered about 58,500 square miles from Fort Nelson, B.C., north to Snag in the Yukon. But two sections—900 square miles immediately northwest of Whitehorse and an area about half that extent south of Snag—have been blocked off by over-cast weather.

Prospects were for clear skies over both areas today and some 29 U.S. and Canadian planes were expected to scan them for traces of the C-54 transport.

The missing plane carried a crew of eight, 34 U.S. military personnel and a mother and her child. It was last heard from Thursday over Snag, about 200 miles northwest of Whitehorse, on its non-stop flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont.

Searchers also probed another promising clue—a report from a mechanic at Carcross, 40 miles south of here, that he heard an explosion in that area about the time the missing plane was due there. Bad weather raised a barrier to an aerial search there yesterday. But planes were expected to go out today and a ground crew headed into the region as well.

But there was hope among the searchers that the plane might be in one of the two unsearched regions.

"The two bad weather regions are the most likely spots to find the missing aircraft," said Air Commodore Martin Costello, R.C. A.F. tactical commander at Winnipeg, who is co-ordinating search operations from the Whitehorse base.

The unsearched areas are on the line of flight of transport planes. Much of the other terrain has been covered three times by search planes.

"These regions are mountainous, the peaks averaging 6,000 and 7,000 feet," said the Air Commodore. "The lower parts of the mountains are heavily wooded. The upper parts are covered with snow."

"There has been a fair deal of precipitation in the region in the last few days and any plane that plowed into a mountain top likely would be covered by three to six inches of snow."

Air Commodore Costello said, however, that takes all along the C-54's southern route were suitable for forced landings in daylight.

He said that the area of a reported explosion south of here on the day the plane disappeared has been covered by aerial search "just once lightly."

"We'll walk in if necessary," said the Air Commodore. He said that the missing plane encountered unfavorable weather around Snag, running into 40-mile-an-hour winds. However, two hours after the C-54 report by radio to Snag, two other planes passed over about the same route without difficulty.

Today was expected to produce the best weather of the four-day search. Clouds over the southern Whitehorse area were expected to disappear by noon. Colder temperatures were forecast.

Fate of the 44 passengers and crew of the missing plane, a United States Air Force C-54 bound from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Montana, became a more pressing problem each hour. The longer any survivors stay in the sub-Arctic wilderness, the less chance they had of survival.

One thing that has been in their favor is an unusual mild spell. It was 15 above here yesterday. Temperatures of 50 and 60 below are more common at this time of year.

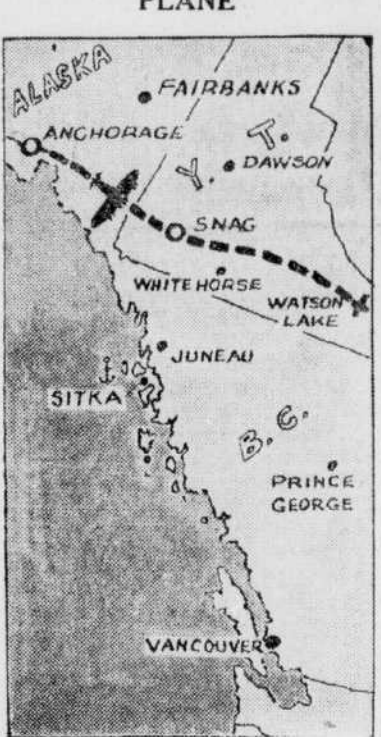

Perhaps uppermost in the minds of the searchers was Mrs. Joyce Espe, wife of Sgt. Robert Espe stationed at Elmendorf Field, Alaska. With her son Victor, Mrs. Espe was on her way in the plane to Rifle, Colo., where she expected to have a baby in about two months.

The three days of unsuccessful search have been heartbreaking for the crew of the aircraft. Personnel waiting on the ground to take part in a rescue if needed.

About nine miles from here at Camp McCrae, seasoned ski troops, trail crews and a search convoy were poised to march into the bush. Thirteen para-rescue men, seven here and six at Fort Nelson, B.C., are ready with food, medical supplies, ground radio

MISSING TRANSPORT PLANE

This map shows the area where a U.S. transport plane is missing with 44 aboard. The transport carrying a mother and child, 34 military personnel and a crew of eight, was scheduled to fly non-stop from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont. The air route follows roughly the Alaska highway. The plane's last report came while flying over Snag, a tiny weather station in the Yukon about 1,800 air miles northwest of Edmonton and about 20 miles from the Alaska-Yukon boundary. (AP Photo)

Stage Setting Rapidly For Showdown In Coal Industry

Pittsburgh, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Six thousand soft coal miners continued on strike today—only a few hours after reports that President Truman may soon step into the coal situation.

Later today, the remainder of the 88,000 men who went on strike three weeks ago will decide whether they'll pay more attention to a hint from the President than a suggestion from John L. Lewis.

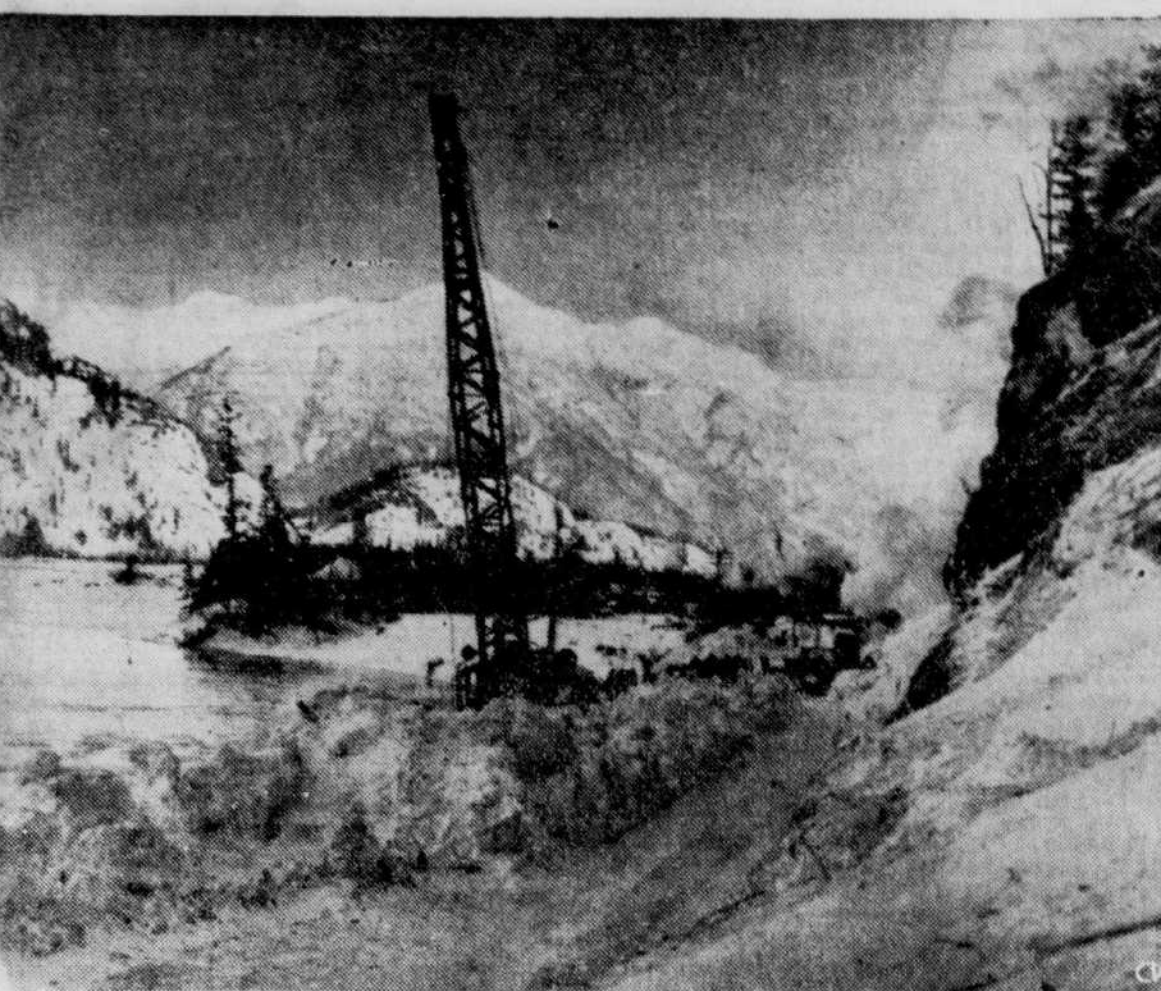

The miners have ignored a suggestion from the United Mine Workers' chief that they return to the three-day week he imposed on the industry while he tries to get a new contract to replace the one which expired last June 30.

Meanwhile, Lewis's 312,000 other soft coal diggers and all of his 80,000 hard coal miners planned to start another three-day week today. But their production efforts aren't enough to keep up with the demands for coal. Rationing already has been instituted in several cities. About 20,000 workers in allied industries have been laid off.

The fact that Lewis is scheduled to meet with northern and western operators Wednesday at Washington spurred hopes that many of the strikers would go back to the pits today.

If Lewis had any such ideas they received a severe jolt when 4,950 diggers in West Virginia and 1,050 in western Pennsylvania failed

New French Political Crisis Looms As Bidault Calls Budget Confidence Vote

Rent Power Argument To Open Today

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Supreme Court of Canada opens hearings today on the validity of federal rent controls, a question affecting some 4,000,000 tenants and 500,000 landlords in Canada.

F. P. Varcoe, federal Justice Minister presenting the case for the Federal Government, is expected to be the first counsel heard when hearings start.

What the court must decide is whether rent controls fall within the Federal Government's power to pass legislation to deal with national emergencies or within the provincial power to pass legislation relating to "property and civil rights."

If the court decides rent controls come under the heading of emergency legislation, it must also decide whether the wartime emergency is over.

Supported by the Ontario Government, the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Canadian Legion and tenants as a whole, the Federal Government claims the regulations are constitutional.

The Quebec Government and the Canadian Federation of Property Owners' Associations claim rent controls are a provincial responsibility and, even if they could have been justified during the war, the emergency now is over.

The Supreme Court is hearing the case at the request of the Federal Government, which has said that, if rent controls are upheld,

Position Of China Again Under Study

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lake Success, N. Y., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The United Nations today tackled one phase of the question of China's representation here which has caused the gravest U.N. crisis.

The Security Council's committee of experts meets at 11 a. m. to discuss an Indian proposal which would make it necessary to take a poll of all 59 U.N. members whenever a delegates' credentials are questioned.

Three will come over the Upper Chamber's rejections of a production tax increase, an increase in the tax on trucking companies and a new tax on undistributed corporation profits.

On the fourth vote, Bidault will ask the Assembly to reject a proposal to save 7,000,000,000 francs on expenses of civilian ministries on railroad reconstruction. The last vote will be on a demand to reapprove the original budget as a whole.

India, Yugoslavia and Russia were the only Council members who voted to oust Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang, top Chinese Nationalist delegate. Britain and Norway abstained although they have recognized Red China.

Council members who continue to recognize the Formosa regime of Chiang Kai-Shek are the United States, France, Cuba, China, Ecuador and Egypt.

It was reliably reported that

Six Per Cent Of Workers Are Jobless

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Some 323,000 Canadians, six per cent of Canada's labor force, are out of work.

That's nearly 100,000 more than at the same time a year ago and an increase of 62,000 in less than a month.

The situation can't be expected to improve until spring, the Labor Department said Saturday when it released those figures.

The statistics covered the number of persons on Jan. 12 who had applied for jobs to the National Employment Service and for whom no jobs had been found.

It blamed the increased unemployment on abnormal weather conditions as well as falling export markets for many commodities. Much of it was caused by a slump in logging, the result of bad weather in many districts.

The department's last report on unemployment showed there were 261,000-looking for work on Dec. 22.

The department said, too, because of the "considerable interest being evidenced across Canada in the employment situation" it will issue a similar report monthly. Last month, the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor charged the department with withholding unemployment information.

Regionally, this was the unemployment situation described by the department: Maritime Provinces: 46,000, 8.4 per cent of the labor force, out of

Western Nations Must Keep Supremacy In Atomic Study

Montreal, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said today in an address prepared for delivery here that the Western powers must continue to seek an east-west agreement on atomic control while maintaining an advantage in technical atomic matters.

The West can be confident it still has a substantial margin of advantage over Russia in technical matters, said Gen. McNaughton, Canada's representative in United Nations atomic talks for the last four years.

An atomic bomb using hydrogen would theoretically be probably 100 times more powerful than a uranium atomic bomb, the Canadian statesman noted in an address prepared for delivery before the Canadian Club of Montreal.

"We must work for agreement and keep the door open because we have a very serious responsibility to ensure that all concrete suggestions are fully explored," McNaughton said. He was referring to the atomic talks among the Big Five powers and Canada, recently suspended because of Russian walkouts over the question of China.

But Gen. McNaughton warned against any "unrealistic action" in the face of the "serious menace which lies behind the iron curtain."

"There is, as yet, no reason for undue anxiety because in technical

Decision On H-Bomb Said Due Shortly

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Behind a tight secrecy curtain drawn by the U.S. State Department, representatives of Britain, the United States and Belgium meet here today to talk about atomic energy.

Authoritative information is that they want to discuss: 1. A possible increase in the $200 to $300 a ton price which the United States pays Belgium for the bulk of uranium produced in the Belgian Congo.

2. Detailed arrangements for division of the Congo's uranium output between the United States and Britain, with virtually all of it coming to the U.S.

Since the talks deal with uranium—used in making present day atomic bombs—there is no apparent connection with a possible superbomb powered with hydrogen.

Various developments during the week-end indicated that President Truman may be near a grave decision on whether to build the H-bomb, and that he may rule in favor of it.

In Chicago, Atomic Scientist Harrison C. Brown said Russia may be ahead of the U.S. in building a hydrogen bomb. He added that the American public should rule on whether the U.S. makes such a bomb, "in full knowledge and understanding of the facts and of the terrible potentialities."

That contrasted with a statement by Representative Charles Elston (Rep. Ohio), a member of the Senate House of Representatives Atomic Committee, who told a reporter the U.S. is "far ahead" of Russia in atomic development.

But another lawmaker, Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) said in a New York speech that Russia is making atomic-bombs to the extent that "if dropped on 25 or 30 major cities, they could knock out the United States in 90 seconds."

The current Washington talks on uranium are evidently related to discussions among the United States, Britain and Canada which began last fall to work out the terms of a new partnership in the production of atomic weapons. The American-British-Canadian talks are stalled now until after the British elections, diplomats here say.

Access to Belgium's Congo ore is one of the fundamental requirements for maintaining the present rate of atomic bomb production in the United States—whatever that may be.

Wartime agreements involving the three countries provided that Belgium would sell its uranium to the United States and Britain and that practically all of it except a relatively few tons used by the British in experiments would come to the U.S.

In addition, the United States obtains uranium from Canada and possibly other important sources. But the greatest known supply in the non-Communist world is in the Belgian Congo.

The official statement announcing the talks said simply that they would talk about "matters of mutual interest in the atomic energy field."

Inquiries among responsible officials here for further information disclosed that most if not all of them consider themselves bound by secrecy restrictions not to talk. That goes far beyond the restrictions which normally have covered international negotiations, in-

Dunham, Jan. 30.—The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Church was held at "Caroline House", the home of Miss Wade, on Thursday afternoon, January 19, with eleven members present.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Jones, and Miss Wade led in the "W.A. Litany" and prayers. After the minutes had been read and accepted, the secretary gave a report of the year's work. A number of the members attended the Deane meeting in Noyan in June, and a meeting in Bedford, in October, when Dr. Helen Hanson, gave a most interesting account of

MOOD INDIGO

If anyone is going to lay a cornerstone in 1950, I would suggest he seal up the following items for the benefit of the folks in 2050.

1. A copy of The Congressional Record. It will make dullish reading, I grant you, but it will prove that our legislators could get up on their hind legs and sound off on anything from the price of asparagus to the plight of the Zuni Indians. And if what's happening in Europe or Asia is the shape of things to come, it will undoubtedly interest our descendants to know that there once was a time when a legally elected representative could shoot off his face without being shot an hour later.

2. A $20 gold piece. At the rate we're going, by 2050 a pound of butter may be worth more than a pound of printed money, and there's no telling how much the lucky finder may be able to buy with 20 bucks worth of the yellow stuff.

3. A pay check, complete with stub showing all tax deductions. It's my hunch that it will amaze the folks of the future to realize that back in 1950 a guy did have a few bucks left after the government was through with him.

4. A copy of the New York Classified Telephone Directory to show how enterprising 8,000,000 people used to be when their enterprise was really free and frolicsome.

5. A G-string and a length of cord used in a lynching—two examples of what the 20th Century was capable of doing when given enough rope.

6. A photograph record of "Mule Train," with Frankie Laine's whistling. The song won't make much sense, but I'll bet a coup of manium will whistle better than the Concertos to Collectivist Agrarianism which future Shostakoviches will compose.

7. A copy of James Thurber's "Is Sex Necessary?" to show the kinds of questions we are asking ourselves. And a copy of the Kinsey Report to show the kinds of answers we are getting.

8. A toy balloon filled with hydrogen to prove that this destructive gas was once used in the public interest.

9. A print by Picasso. This cultural left-over may amuse our 21st Century friends, and if it doesn't it will at least teach them that there once were countries where even a Communist could paint as he pleased.

10. The cover of Time magazine for January 17th—the one with the picture of Mark III, the elec-

Hon. Louis Gosselin and Mrs. Gosselin of Farnham were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dion.

Mrs. George Provost spent several days during the past week in Montreal with her daughter, Miss Joan Provost.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dery include Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Leduc and son, Michael, of Cowansville, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Santerre and son Gaston of Brigham, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dery of St. Anne's, and Mrs. Edouard Dery and the Misses Claire and Cecile Dery, all of Bedford. They gathered on the occasion of the christening of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dery, who was baptized at the parish church of St. Damien, the trone computing machine developed at Harvard. Also the accompanying article suggesting, on the basis of Prof. Norbert Wiener's new science of cybernetics, that the world may eventually be ruled by this machine's offspring, since the machine's brains are getting larger and larger while man's brains are getting smaller and smaller. It will probably startle the cellar-dwellers of 2050 to learn that there was a time when people were only thinking of the machines taking over.

11. A snapshot of the immigration buildings on Ellis Island. Generations hence, people may be curious to know what the island was used for, because by then it will probably be a launching platform for robot missiles, and similar knick-knacks. Next to the snapshot, an 8-by-10 glossy of the new U.N. building on First Avenue, wrapped in a copy of the song hit, "But I Can Dream, Can't I?"

12. An architect's model of a voting booth. And with it, instructions on how you can pull a lever and vote a straight ticket, or flip off any candidate you don't like and flip on the one you favor for a particular office.

I'd take it kindly if the man laying the cornerstone were to make certain that the curtain is on the model—that bit of cloth which makes it possible for one to vote without a cop peeking over his shoulder. This little curtain, I suspect, is darn near the most important piece of equipment we have in 1950, and judging from what's happening to it elsewhere in the world, it may be as rare as the dodo by the time another cybernetic century rolls around. FIRST BACHELOR BRIGADE LOSS HAS PUT ON A FEW POUNDS

Hollywood — Within five months Hollywood lost three of its prize bachelors—Jimmy Stewart, Clark Gable and Cary Grant. As Shelley Winters observes: "It's getting so there aren't enough lone wolves left in Hollywood for one good stag party."

I just cornered Jimmy, who was the first to desert the bachelor brigade when he married Gloria McLean. And you know what? He's crazy about matrimony although he admits he's had to make certain "adjustments."

Like living in a house with below-normal temperature and having the top of their convertible down despite icy winds blowing off Southern California's snow-capped mountains.

"Gloria," he said, "is just a good fresh-air girl. But I'm getting used to it."

Gloria has two children, 3½ and 5. That created a problem for the ex-bachelor. But the kids accomplished something Jimmy, a doctor, and a hospital couldn't do several years ago.

Jimmy once went to a hospital for a week, under a doctor's care, to gain weight. The doc thought he could gain about 10 pounds. At the end of the week he had lost half a pound.

But since his marriage Jimmy has gained seven pounds.

He credits the kids.

"I'm eating more than I've ever eaten in my life. I'm the 'example setter' for the kids. If I eat—they eat. Brother, I've been eating."

I'm glad to hear that M-G-M is reborn. "The Stratton Story" is a Hollywood theater before Oscar-voting time comes around to remind the voters of Jimmy's great performance. If anyone deserves a nomination, it's Jimmy.

"Puppets have made so much money in television they can afford to hire live people to entertain them."

Says Jack, now back in Hollywood:

"It stunk. The puppets just sat there."

THE GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

For several years past, the United States Government to a major degree and the Canadian Government to a comparatively less extent, has been engaged in the commodity business through the purchase of surplus agricultural products at fixed prices to support the markets. The ultimate end for these operations appears to have been reached in the cases of potatoes. The situation in this respect has become so acute that the government has agreed to sell any American brand new burlap bag, worth seventeen cents, for one cent. There is practically no limit on the number they can buy—hundreds, thousands, millions.

But there's a catch to it. They also have to take the 100 pounds of potatoes in the bag. They're free. But the buyers can't eat the potatoes or let anybody else in the United States eat them. If they do, the government will charge them $3 per bag. And they can't throw them away either. If they do, the government will charge $1 per bag.

They have to export the potatoes and can't ship them to Canada, Cuba or the Caribbean. Suppose they decide to send them to Europe. That's where their trouble begins.

It costs about 30 cents per bag to ship the potatoes to port from country shipping points up in Maine, where most of them are located.

Then, it costs another $1.50 to get them across the ocean. If Americans can find a European buyer who'll pay $1.81 per bag, which officials say is doubtful, then they've broken even.

Not so Uncle Sam. He loses $2.09 on every 100-pound bag they buy. The one-cent export deal is part of the government's program to get rid of—at any cost—surplus potatoes farmers have produced under the price support. Officials doubt it will help dispose of much of the surplus.

Supports for the 1949 crop were set at the lowest level permitted by law. Yet, for the third straight year farmers produced far more than consumers would eat at that price. So Uncle Sam has to buy up the surplus, expected to total 65,000,000 bushels.

The government could save money, as much as 49 cents on every $2.10 bag of Maine potatoes, if it dumped them. But Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan doesn't want to do that, until Congress says it's okay.

As for the 17-cent bag, officials say, the spuds must be sacked so they can be moved in pre-heated rail cars and be protected from freezing. Of course, the government could charge the exporter for the bag.

"But then, somebody would say we weren't doing our utmost to get rid of the potatoes," one official said.

If the government dug a big hole up in Maine and had the farmers dump their surplus potatoes into it, the farmer would get his farm support price of $1.60 per 100 pounds plus one cent for inspection. The taxpayer would have to pay 49 cents on every 100 pounds. That would mean a saving of millions of dollars on this year's surplus.

Here are the charges the taxpayer must pay under the one-cent export program which could be saved by "dumping" the potatoes: Grading, 12 cents; bag, 17 cents; sacking charge, three cents; selling charge (the cut the dealer gets on every bag he handles), six cents; loading into cars, nine cents; insulating the railroad car with paper and pre-heating it, two cents.

THE MIDDLE CLASSES AND COMMUNISM

What happens to the so-called middle classes when a country is taken over by Communism is well known. To use a slang phrase, they get it in the neck. What happens to the workers in those countries is made clear in a despatch from Vienna by John MacCormac, New York Times correspondent.

In "peoples' democracies" like Hungary, workers are being exploited to a degree they never knew before the Communists began carrying out what they like to call their mandate from the proletariat.

MacCormac writes that workers who were cajoled or driven into feats of production in honor of Generalissimo Stalin's 70th birthday are told now that they must keep up this tempo in the interest of next year's plan.

It seems likely that 1950 in Iron Curtain countries will be known as a year of industrial speedup, or what the Communists call "Socialist competition." Each worker has his individual task defined and gets a booklet in which to record his daily achievement. And it had better be good. Minimums are not accepted. Workers are frozen in their jobs, too. There is no such thing as freedom of choice.

And Victor Riesel pointed out in his Monday labor column in The Courier-Express that in Communist China workers now must put in 14 to 16 hours a day at wages set by the Communist central labor headquarters—and no bargaining permitted.

Communist cries for civil liberties in non-Communist countries sound hollow indeed in the light of what happens to civil liberties and even just plain human rights in Communized countries.

If workers everywhere would realize the truth of what Communism holds for them Red propaganda would fall on barren ground.

PRESS COMMENTS

GOOD ADVICE FOR NEW CANADIANS

Woodstock Sentinel Review
We have now carried in letters to the editor two sharply different points of view in regard to immigrants. The first was that of an immigrant who found much to complain about and the second was that of a native Canadian incensed by what the immigrant had to say.

The two points of view are fairly typical, if one is to judge by comments reaching this office. There is a third viewpoint, however—an eminently reasonable viewpoint which is held by a very large body of Canadians. This viewpoint is admirably presented in a letter by Mrs. Jean Watson of Innisfil, a member of the East Zorra School Board. Mrs. Watson writes us:

"The trouble with too many newcomers is their cry of 'What has Canada to offer us?' They give too little thought to the question 'What have you got to offer Canada?'"

"Canada's didn't just happen. It has taken over a hundred years and the hard, unceasing labor of thousands of men and women to achieve what we enjoy today—men and women who brought their children with them and cared for them, while at the same time building homes and having a living from the wilderness."

"Read some of the histories of the townships around you, and stiffen your spine. You cannot expect to come into a country and have everything handed to you on a silver platter. You have your own way to make—and thousands have done so before you. . . . we all know houses are scarce; they are not any more plentiful for native-born Canadians."

"Twenty years ago, when we came to Canada, the depression was beginning. One dollar was as hard to get as a house is now almost. . . . One great advantage we had through all the hard times was that we loved Canada and, as we saw it, we had to work and study and sacrifice that we might become part of the greatest country in the world."

"Your native land will never mean any less to you because you love the country of your adoption but it is behind you. Canada is your wonderful present and future—provided you are prepared to work for and deserve your citizenship."

FARMERS VOCAL AND BITTER

The Ottawa Journal
The numerous protest meetings organized by farmers and held in almost every county of Ontario recently should not be taken lightly. Here in Eastern Ontario a half dozen such gatherings have been held in the past two weeks and attendance has been anywhere from 400 to 1,000, despite icy roads and generally unpleasant weather. Those who attend are very much in earnest.

Many may say, "farmers are always kicking and complaining," but that is not an adequate answer in the present instance. Often these meetings have been held after only a few days' notice, nevertheless in every case the attendance has taxed the capacity of halls. Criticism of government policy on farm prices has been both vocal and bitter. The truth is that farmers generally, in this province at least, are aroused and show a degree of determination to do something which is a far cry from the usual course of farm gatherings.

While there are all sorts of specific complaints the core of them all is embodied in one of the resolutions passed at the Finch meeting this week: "The government should give price support to all farm products until the leveling of all prices gives farmers a parity of income with other members of society."

Farmers are not complaining so much about price reductions as they are against the fact that they alone of all producers are expected to take less income at the present time. If prices of manufactured articles and of services were falling it is conceivable that the farmers' attitude might be different, but at the present time there appears little prospect of that. The tendency appears in the other direction.

As a result of new contract prices, and their effect on all domestic prices, farmers face an income drop of between $200 and $250 millions this year from their average of the past two years. This takes into account the expected drop in wheat price when the new agreement comes into force. Roughly that means about a 10 per cent decline. What a cry of anguish would go up from organized labor if such a cut in wages were suggested.

OVERWORKED?

Financial Post
An unnamed member of the House of Commons has suggested that M.P.'s salaries be raised to $10,000 a year with provision for pensions. This compares with the present $4,000 indemnity per session with a $2,000 tax-free annual allowance.

Backing the proposal is the familiar argument that politics today is a year-round occupation with sessions running twice as long as before the war. And they would be longer, it is said, "if members did not rush a great deal of work through in the last days before prorogation."

Admittedly the job of running a country today is vastly more complicated than it once was, but so is business. Simply lengthening sessions, however, cannot solve the problem.

Eventually we would arrive at the stage where Parliament might sit continuously and still be unable to catch up. And in the meantime running it would become a job for professionals only because there would be no time for outside interests.

That would bar business and professional people, farmers and others who have contributed so much to our public life. It would tend to make Parliament less representative.

A much better solution would be a drastic overhaul of the work and procedures of Parliament. At present far too much time is wasted on matters that should have had the benefit of expert advice and opinion and should have been thoroughly threshed out by committees before coming to the House for decision.

THERE APPEARS TO BE TWO SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT

Election In United Kingdom

by LARRY SMITH
Kensley Scholar in Journalism

If February 23 turns out cold, blustery, snowy or rainy, and should those meteorological conditions perchance coincide with a setback for the British Labor Party, a lot of Socialist ex-Members of Parliament will give voice to a loud "I told you so."

They are the men who wanted a "snap" election in the autumn, when weather was good and economic prospects grim. Failing that, they felt the election should be delayed until June, hoping that the economic climate would improve and feeling, at least, that June would provide better campaigning and polling weather than February. Further, they would have had the Party's 50th jubilee celebrations, now canceled, to help whip up the old fighting spirit.

This weather problem, which Labor seems to feel hurt its chances most, is complicated by the new limit placed on the number of cars a candidate may use to get voters to the polls. Under the Representation of the People Act, passed in 1948, a candidate is limited to one car for every 1,500 electors in his district.

Other features of the Act make the results of this election more difficult to predict, for the whole electoral pattern has been changed. There will be 625 seats in the new Parliament, instead of the present 640, and only 62 seats are unaffected by the new distribution which has redrawn the lines of most constituencies.

The general policy of the new Act is to revise constituencies so that each elected member should represent approximately 60,000 voters. To achieve this there has been a considerable amount of "carving" and amalgamation. In some cases, predominantly rural constituencies have had their character greatly altered by inclusion of an industrial town, perhaps tipping the balance the other way.

Another feature, affecting the number of seats, has been elimination of university representation and the redrawing of the City of London as a constituency. Formerly, for example, an Oxford student and a City businessman was entitled to a vote in his place of residence and also at university or in his place of business. The City of London, with only 12,500 residential electors, had a representation of two M.P.'s. It is now merged with a larger area to form a new constituency with one member.

The number of voters to choose the holders of a reduced number of seats has increased by approximately 1,500,000. What these new voters, many of whom will be casting their first ballot, decide is a big question.

Also giving much concern are the 7,863,121 voters who did not take the trouble to visit the polls in 1945. There is far greater interest in the forthcoming election, and doubtless many of these will vote. Conservatives are confident that many of their supporter didn't vote last time, feeling sure that Churchill, the architect of victory, could retain power without their support. Labor, on the other hand, has laid no claim to these people, although it will certainly win them.

The so-called service vote poses another unpredictable factor. The vote itself is negligible this time—there are about 140,000 qualified voters in the forces. But in 1945 there were 3,000,000 voters, and it is held by many that those votes put labor into power. Nobody can prove that, but everyone wonders how the three million will vote after four years of civilian life. Last time the fighting was over, they were twiddling thumbs in distant lands, and Labor promised them a fast boat to Blighty. Some say, too, that many of them might have voted Labor in 1945 because the service vote, among the ranks, is more often than not "agin the government."

It appears that there will be a record number of candidates in the field, with perhaps two-thirds of the seats being decided in three-cornered fights. Conservatives and their National Liberal supporters are contesting all 625 seats, as are the Socialists. The Liberals plan to confuse the picture with at least 400 candidates, and the Communists will probably muster just over a hundred.

The Liberals, with but 11 members in the last Parliament, provide another of the imponderables, for no one knows just what the potential Liberal vote is today, nor how many would hesitate to vote Liberal for fear of rendering their vote virtually useless. Critics are jokingly saying that the Liberal M.P.'s in the next Parliament can drive to the House in one taxi!

Liberals will undoubtedly retain their seven Welsh seats, but the four English seats are all precarious. Three of them were decided by narrow majorities of 1965, 198 and 949, respectively, in straight two-party fights last time.

Dissolution of the present Parliament finds the Labor Party holding 300 seats, the Conservatives 194, the Liberal-Nationals 13 (they support the Conservatives), the Liberals 10, and Independents and others, 33.

In 1945, the Labor Party received 12,000,000 votes, (including 4,000,000 who had obviously never voted Labor before) while the other parties combined polled a few hundred thousand more.

As in many another country, it requires only a small shift in the total number of votes polled to produce some amazing results in the make-up of the House of Commons. The question which will plague people until the wee hours on election night is what kind of shift there will be in those 35 million votes.

The Record Short Story

Whistle While You Work

By ELIZABETH ARMSTRONG

J. Barclay Wall was the most eligible bachelor in town, a fact of which he was smugly aware. After looking 'em over, he concluded that Dr. Day's attractive daughter Lucy might do—of course after a bit of polishing. "He has everything," urged Lucy's mother. "Everything," thought Lucy, "except what it takes to give a thrill up the spine when I hear his voice. Oh, I realize the advantages of such a marriage, if only . . . only . . ." At this moment of indecision, Aunt Mary invited her to New York.

Aunt Mary had a nice apartment except for one detail: its ultra modern kitchen opened on an airshaft which didn't make sense to a country girl to whom the kitchen was the most important room in the house. Lucy always did her share, no matter how unpleasant, so at once she offered to wash the dishes during her visit, incidentally this being the only housework she really hated. Bad enough at home with a garden for a view; now she must work in a sort of cell. Aunt Mary was delighted with the idea. "There'll be quite a few," she said, "what with Uncle Fred and the two boys." "H—m," replied Lucy. Her hostess laughed. "Just the way I feel. But whistle while you work, my dear. I read somewhere that always helps along a distasteful job."

True to her offer, the next morning Lucy carried the dishes to the stuffy kitchen, immediately opening its one window. An ugly brick wall met her eye. Whisking up a suds she started in to wash the dishes twice, the dishes were done. Suddenly, in through the window came a loud clapping, followed by "Bravo!" in a masculine voice. Lucy jumped. "You sure can sing," went on the invisible man. "Thank you," replied Lucy, vainly peering into the airshaft, "where are you?"

"In my kitchen drinking coffee. Where are you?"

"In mine, washing dishes. Can you sing, too?"

"A little—want to hear me?" Lucy did. "I was a Marine," explained Mr. X, "so I always like to bust loose in old war songs." In a magnificent baritone he did just that with "Bell Bottom Trousers."

"Goodness!" exclaimed his audience, awestruck, "who are you?" "Practically nobody, but I do have a name—Bill Price. Who might you be?"

"Just a little country maiden," answered Lucy, blushing a trifle—this man's voice did something to her spine all right. "I have a name, too—Lucy Day. I'm visiting my aunt, Mrs. Briggs."

"Now that we've been properly introduced," said Bill, "maybe I better explain why I'm lounging around at nine o'clock in the morning. Just finished a bout with pneumonia and I'm a shut-in till Monday." "Lucy!" called Annie. "I've got to run," said Lucy, "Well, er . . ."

"Tomorrow morning? Well! I'll be hearing you."

Excitedly, Lucy recounted her little adventure to her aunt who immediately took all the joy out of it.

Q—Did John Paul Jones ever hold a higher rank than a captain?
A—Not in the United States Navy. He was, however, a vice-admiral in the Russian Navy.

Q—Is there any tree that has more than one trunk?
A—No, all trees have one central trunk. The East Indian banyan tree sends down from its branches shoots which take root and become auxiliary trunks. One Calcutta banyan tree has 3,000 such trunks.

Q—What is silviculture?
A—Silviculture is the science and art of establishing and tending forests to get the best timber products. It is analogous to the planting, weeding, and other culture necessary to grow food crops.

Q—Is it compulsory to register the names of race horses?
A—The registration office of the Jockey Club must approve the

At this precise moment back home, Mr. T. Barclay Wall was sitting in front of an open fire in his comfortable living room thinking how wonderful it was going to be for a little country girl like Lucy to marry a big shot like himself. A little polish to get off the rough edges . . . he guessed he could manage that. . . . Oh, is that so, Mr. T. Barclay Wall!

"Perhaps, I can make it after all."

Richmond Ekes Out 4-1 Win Over Magog In Close Battle Yesterday; Reid Scores Hat-Trick For Flyers

Richmond, Jan. 30.—The Richmond Flyers continued their winning streak yesterday afternoon when they eked out a 4-1 victory over Pat Murphy's Magog aggregation in fixture of the E.T. Intermediate Hockey League.

Frankie Reid was the top marksman for the Flyers when he tallied three goals for a hat-trick, to pace his team to victory. Maurice Parr accounted for the other marker. Ray Courteau got the sole Magog tally.

There was no scoring in the opening frame as the teams battled back and forth, but their efforts were turned back by the goalkeepers. A total of twelve penalties were handed out by the referees.

In the middle session Frankie Reid opened the scoring and in the closing minutes Parr added one more. In the final stanza Reid opened the scoring, but Courteau came through with Magog's lone tally to reduce the Flyers' margin. Reid then extended the Richmond lead when he scored, after being set up by Buster McLennan and Maurice Parr, to give the home team a 4-1 count. Although the Magog club tried hard to knot

Stan Hamilton's Lennoxville Rink Wins Citadel International Trophy; 13 Events Competed For In Week

Quebec, Jan. 30.—The colorful 13-event Quebec International Borspiel ended Saturday after a hectic week of competition that kept the Quebec Winter Club's ice jam-packed all the time.

For the third time since 1942, the main event was captured by a Quebec quartet.

M. M. Stonehouse brought back the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy, blue-ribbon award of the "Spies". The trophy was first put in competition by Sir Eugene Fiset in 1942.

Stonehouse won in a breeze when he defeated A. G. Joyce of Arvida, Que., 15-6 to capture the mug won last year by Judge Walter Lim-

Senator Howard Trophy Winners

Jumping Competition In World Ski Championships Opens Today, But Cross-Country Events To Be Shifted

Lake Placid, N.Y., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The World Skiing Championships will be opened formally here today with a parade of athletes, but a majority of the nordic events will be held at a site still to be determined.

Late yesterday, the executive council of the Federation Internationale de Ski announced that the cross-country events definitely would be moved from this area because of a lack of snow.

Rumford, Me., where there is a reported 15 inches of snow and the area centering around Jackson and Conway, N.H., appear to be the most logical spots for the competition. A decision on the exact site is expected sometime this morning.

An 18-kilometre (11-mile) cross-country run, a 50-kilometre (31-mile) marathon and a 40-kilometre (25-mile) relay race are on the program that will be transferred. Col. N. R. Oestgaard, military aide to the Crown Prince of Norway, will open the games officially at 3 p.m. EST when he addresses the assembled participants in the F.I.S.'s three official languages—French, German and English. Col. Oestgaard is president of the F.I.S.

That impressive ceremony will follow a parade of athletes through the mud-spattered streets of this would-be winter resort. For a time during the week-end even the ceremony appeared a victim of the weatherman, who has sent rain and 3-degree temperatures here instead of snow and ice.

Maple Leafs Riding Six-Game Winning Streak To Share Second Place With Montreal Canadiens

Detroit Red Wings are going to need all of that long lead they piled up in the earlier part of the National Hockey League campaign.

Today the Wings still have a 10-point margin, but the Toronto Maple Leafs have ridden a six-game winning streak to climb on even terms with Montreal Canadiens in second place.

Except for the last-place Chicago Black Hawks, the teams that need most points during the week-end were the teams that needed them most. Toronto took two games from Chicago, 4-1 and 4-0. New York Rangers tied Boston Bruins 2-2 then whitewashed the Canadiens 2-0. Detroit and Montreal split 1-1 Saturday, then the league-leaders were whopped 4-1 by the Bruins last night.

The second-place Canadian clubs are six points ahead of New York with Boston another point back in fifth place and the Hawks' way down in the cellar.

The burly blocker from Brandon, Turk Broda, drew up even with Bill Durnan of the Canadiens in the matter of shut-outs when he scored his seventh at Chicago Sunday night. Broda did it the hard way, with 39 saves against only 17 for Chicago's Frank Brimsek. The Toronto scorers were Joe Klukay, Ray Timmer, Howie Meeker and Sid Smith.

There were an even dozen penalties in the rough game. It was vastly different from the parade at Toronto Saturday when the Leafs whistled 37 shots at Brimsek and nine of them counted. Johnny McCormack, Max Bentley, Meeker, Bill Bariko, Vic Lynn, Smith and Klukay. Broda's bid for a shut-out was spoiled by Metro Prystay, scoring on a screened shot from the outside the defence early in the third period.

The Bruins turned in one of the best games of the season at the expense of the Wings last night at Boston. Rookie Jack Gelineau in the Boston cage had visions of his fourth shut-out before Gordie Howe lashed in a long low shot for Detroit's only score, three minutes before the final horn.

In their first victory in six starts, the Bruins got off to a fast start with Paul Ronty's goal 52 seconds from the opening face-off. Johnny Peirson, Bud Poile and Ken Smith got the others.

The Wings had to come from behind to gain the tie at Montreal Saturday. Maurice Richard scored his 26th goal of the season on a pass from Roger Leves, and Steve Black got the equalizer four and a half minutes later. Neither team could break the deadlock in the held, it will renew current controls for at least another year when they expire at the end of March.

If controls are found to be unconstitutional, they will lapse in all provinces which have not passed rental legislation.

In addition to settling the question of rental controls, the case may also affect other controls, including regulations imposed by the Prices Board and powers the government has used to negotiate food contracts with the United Kingdom and to institute price supports for some farm commodities.

If rent controls are found to be unconstitutional, these other measures might also be successfully challenged in the courts.

There are indications, however, that regardless of the decision in the rentals case, new legislation will be introduced at the next session of Parliament, scheduled to start February 16, to put other controls on a peacetime basis.

My wife, who is an Anglo-Indian, was very beautiful and petite. Her home was Hapur India and I met her while on war duty in New Delhi. Saturday was to have been her 23rd birthday. We three were all very close. Little Victor always shared every meal with me. My wife and child are lost and I'm just absolutely stunned. I haven't slept or eaten since Thursday.

I've done a lot of praying lately, although I never did go to church much. I've kept praying continuously for them. I've always believed that a person who had faith in God was much better off than anyone else. Now I'm just waiting and hoping that my prayers will be answered.

All Canadian and United States troops along the Alaska Highway, preparing to take part in the exercise Sweetbriar next month, have been alerted to watch for signs of wreckage during patrols.

Meanwhile, photographic men developed and printed pictures taken of the territory covered by some of the search planes. Other men scanned every inch hoping to find a tell-tale spot that might indicate where the transport came down.

The report of the explosion Thursday night was described by search officials yesterday as the most "highly probable" clue. The time the mechanic heard the plane and the blast was within three minutes of the time the missing transport was due in that area.

If such a poll were taken today it would find only 15 U. N. members have recognized Communist China. In the Commonwealth, Britain, India, Pakistan and Ceylon have broken with the Formosa regime of Chiang Kai-Shek and recognized Mao Tse-Tung's government. Rankin Curling Trophy Won By Montreal Team

Seigniory Club, Que., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A Montreal West Curling Club rink yesterday captured the Rankin Trophy for the second consecutive year.

M. F. MacKay led his foursome to a 7-5 victory over Colin Rankin's Seigniory Club rink to win the 10th Annual Irons competition here.

The event last year went to another Montreal West rink, skipped by Dr. A. L. Wilkie.

In semi-finals, the Montreal West quartet edged out 9-8 a rink from Arnprior, Ont., skipped by H. Short after an extra end, while Mrs. Rankin downed B. Adair, Montreal Heather, 10-5.

work. Logging employment was cut by the loss of the British market for mining timber and high inventories at pulp mills. Manufacturing was stable, mild weather had helped construction work which took up some of the slack in employment.

Quebec: 99,000 out of work, one-third of them in Montreal and representing 7.1 per cent of the labor force. Most unemployment was in lumbering and the jobless were moving into the cities. There was lower unemployment in secondary textile and shoe factories but employment was increasing in western Quebec mines.

Ontario: 79,000 jobless, 4.6 per cent of the labor force. Seasonal unemployment was less of a problem because of the predominance of manufacturing. The jobless from the lumber camps have moved into the cities and "created an exaggerated picture of unemployment in several areas" which would disappear with resumption of construction in the spring.

Prairies: 45,000 unemployed, 4.5 per cent of the labor force, most of them in the lakehead district. More seasonal unemployment expected because of winter declines in logging and meat packing. Unemployment expected to drop rapidly when farm and construction work resumes.

Pacific Coast: 54,000 jobless, nearly half of them in Vancouver and representing 12.6 per cent of the labor force. Heavy storms closed many logging camps but operators are eager to start work as soon as possible. Employment in pulpwood and mining showed no signs of falling.

The department said nearly $7,000,000 had been paid out in

An unusually interesting evening was spent. The following church reports were given: The Women's Association report, and the Ives Hill Ladies' Aid report, on the year's activities, which indicated a very successful year's work for all.

With Miss MacDonald at the piano, several teachers from King's Hall led in round singing.

Mrs. Allison and Miss Pearce Allison assisted by members of the organizations served refreshments. Mr. A. Todd, of Compton, addressed Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hockin on behalf of the many friends they had made, while in Coaticook and Compton and presented them with a Kenwood blanket. Mrs. Stewart Cairns, president of the Ladies' Aid, asked Mrs. Hockin to accept a gift in silver from them for her help, and a reminder, that she would be greatly missed by her friends here.

All joined in wishing Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hockin and family, happiness in their home in St. Laurent.

Friends were present from Coaticook, Moe's River, Ives Hill and Draper's Corner.

The Farm Forum Group The Farm Forum Group met at F. Greens, eleven members were present.

The broadcast was heard and a discussion followed re-farm produce prices. It was decided that price support might lead to inefficient farming and that parity prices and maintenance of consumer purchasing power were needed only in an emergency.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A letter from the "Record" to Mrs. A. H. Cairns, complimenting her and the Forum on the reports sent in by her from the Forum, was read by George Clark.

George Clark read a letter of acknowledgement from the Prime Minister's office, Farm Prices and Problems of Farmers. Mr. Green read a letter of resolutions, voted to be sent to the Farm Forum office at Macdonald College and letters to Mr. Bianchette, about farm price and changes needed. J. Cowan voted and G. SHERBROOKE MAKES CLEAN SWEEP OF WEEK-END FIXTURES

Eke Out 5-4 Decision Over Senators Saturday Evening And Down Braves 6-3 Yesterday; Meet Royals Tomorrow

Sherbrooke Saints swept both week-end engagements with the Ottawa Senators and Valleyfield Braves to maintain their ten-point lead over the second-place Quebec Aces.

Saturday evening in Ottawa the locals had a real battle as the Senators staged a strong third-period rally to net two goals and reduce the Saints' lead to 5-4 but couldn't get the equalizer as Sherbrooke staved off their rally. McAtee, Barry, Sinclair, Prefontaine and Vinet were the marksmen for the Saints while Leclair, Greene, Darnell and Robinson accounted for the Ottawa scores.

In Valleyfield yesterday Guy Labrie and Jimmy Planché were the big guns for the locals with two goals each while Marcel Fillion and Ray Barry notched the others. For the losers, Kwong, Bisailon and Joannette were the scorers.

Tomorrow evening the Saints move into Montreal to tangle with the up-and-coming Royals in a regular league fixture.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—A four-goal rally in the second period gave Sherbrooke Saints a close 5-4 triumph over Ottawa Senators Saturday night in a Quebec Senior Hockey League game before 6,500 fans.

It was Sherbrooke's seventh straight win over the Senators this season.

The game was a hotly-contested affair from the start. Eleven minor penalties were issued to quiet things down with six going to the Saints and the remainder to Ottawa.

Norm McAtee, Ray Barry, Reg Sinclair, Jacques Prefontaine and Bernie Vinet were the Sherbrooke marksmen. Ottawa Snipers were Jackie Leclair, George Greene, Eddie Darnell and Billy Robinson.

Ottawa held full sway in the final period and just fell short of tying the count before the period ended. Goals by Darnell and Robinson worked the score to 5-4 and Fraser was yanked out when only 45 seconds remaining in a desperate effort to knot the count.

Sherbrooke outshot Ottawa in every period. Fraser turned aside 30 scoring efforts to 24 for Leclair.

Rupert Atto's Rink Wins Mixed Spiel Held By Lennoxville Curling Club; Bennett's Squad Takes Consolation

Rup Atto guided his rink to a 13-12 victory over Burt Hill's quartet to win the Mixed. Bonsel at the Lennoxville Curling Club Saturday evening, while Darcy Bennett's foursome topped the Consolation event when they edged out Bob Blake's squad 12-10.

Nineteen teams took part in this competition which started on Monday and carried on all week. As evidence of the interest aroused by this event, all games were watched by a large number of spectators.

Preceding the final, a supper attended by the ladies and men was served in the club house, with the ladies supplying the meal in their usual unexcelled fashion. President Charles Parkin presided.

Playing for the Doiron Trophy veteran skip Rup Atto defeated Hill by one point, 13-12. The game was a seesaw affair all the way. Big ends were scored on both sides. Atto was down three coming into the last end with four shots against him and no stones of his own in the house. Hill missed cutting down the count with both of his last stones to leave Atto laying four, he game ending 13-12.

In the Consolation event Darcy Bennett was hard pressed to overcome stubborn opposition put up by Bob Blake and his team. Final score in this game was 12-10.

Following the games, Aurele Doiron and Mrs. Doiron presented the prizes to the winners and runners-up in the main events. Mrs. N. Hunting, President of the Ladies' Club, presented the prizes to the finalists in the Consolation.

The prizes were donated by Mr. Dorian, C. Parkin and the Ladies' Club.

In the middle session McCorry got the first Granby tally but Benoit nullified this when he registered after being set up by Raymond and J. Blanchard.

In the final period Granby out scored their opponents as McCorry and Sioui tallied for the visitors while St. Onge got the lone Maroon marker, in the opening minutes of the frame. Bishop's University Hockey Team Blanks Macdonald 5-0; Price Is Outstanding In Nets For Winners

Bishop's University hockey team took their second straight league game Saturday night as they swamped Macdonald College 5-0. Tom Price played magnificent game between the Bishop's posts as he turned aside point-blank shots. The height of his goaling skill came to light as he stopped a penalty shot by Herbie French after Stearns had thrown his stick in a desperate attempt to avoid a break-away.

The game was slow in starting and for the first minute of play, Bishop's was unable to get out of its own zone. Reid Scowen drew the first penalty for tripping Graham Bell behind the Bishop's nets. The home team acquired the lead with Don Lawrence and Fred Rider carrying the attack to the aggie end despite the one man deficit. At the 7:03 mark, Berry was penalized for charging Rider. Bishop's capitalized on their advantage as they swarmed around the Mac net. Joe Stearns led the attack and scored the first goal on a back hand drive at 8:20.

Macdonald came roaring back, as Bishop's defense was weak, to shoot almost at will on Price. Displaying every type of save in the game, Price held the puck out despite the concentrated attack. For the last five minutes of the period, Bishop's held the play in the visitors' zone with the exception of one rush which resulted in a pile-up in front of the Bishop's net.

On a rebound from Scowen's shot, Rider slammed the puck past Craig at the 1:30 point of the second period, after a prolonged offensive. The pace was terrific and such a hockey display has seldom before been seen staged by Bishop's. Scowen was waved to the penalty box for elbowing at 9:45. Stearns was outstanding in killing time as he took the puck on every rebound and cleared.

While Hawken was serving a penalty for interference, Mulligan set Ness up with a perfect pass while Price was drawn out of position. However, Ness failed to slip the puck into the open net and thus missed Macdonald's best scoring opportunity of the game. Mitchell was penalized for holding at 14:45 and paved the way for the local's third marker. At the 15:30 mark, Sanderson scored after Joe Stearns had carried the puck from behind his own net right through the entire Macdonald team. In this third period, Bishop's had a definite edge in the play. While Macdonald stood out as smooth skaters, Bishop's had their men in position at all times and won about 90% of the face-offs.

The third frame started off at a terrific clip which saw the puck carried from end to end, without score. At 4:27, as Herbie French broke into the clear to ride in on Price, Joe Stearns threw his stick which caught the puck and carried it into the corner. A penalty shot was awarded to French, on which he failed to score, and Stearns was penalized for five minutes. One minute later, Don Lawrence was put off for elbowing. Even with a two man advantage Macdonald failed to score due to the stone-wall defense put up by Rider, Scowen and Bergeron. At the half-way mark of the period, Zinniger took his time on a pass-out from Johnston and slammed the puck home to make the score 4-0. Five minutes later, Stearns again rushed through the whole Macdonald team. He passed to Rider in the corner who passed it in front of the net and Stearns slammed it home for the final corner. Price was sensational in the dying minutes of the game as Macdonald staged a do-or-die attack.

With the exception of about the first quarter of the game, Bishop's outshot, outplayed and outscored the visitors. Berry put up a fine defense for Macdonald while Craig played a good game in nets. The goals that were scored against him were all clean shots on which he didn't have a chance.

Bishop's: Price, Stearns, Scowen, Bergeron, Hawken, Meakin, Rider, Sanderson, Lawrence, Zinniger, Dunn, Johnston, Barrett, McConnell, Tremblay, Wilson.
Macdonald: Craig, Berry, Lavasseur, Roy, Bell, Mitchell, Brown, Dopp, French, Klein, Ness, Mulligan, Ketchum, Perron.

Play was fairly even in all three matches and in two, the Howard and Armstrong trophies, the outcome was not decided until the final stone was thrown by the skips.

Immediately following the games, Stewart Roy, president of the local club, presided at the presentation of the trophies and prizes. He was assisted by Oscar Stenson and Bart Holtham, members of the committee. Following a few remarks in which he congratulated the winners and all contestants for their fine efforts, he proceeded with the presentations.

Mr. Roy called upon Hubert Armstrong to present the prizes to the winners and runners-up in Armstrong playdowns. Oscar Stenson presented the Senator Howard Trophy, and prizes, while Mr. Roy called upon Bruce McRea, of the Julius Kayser and Company, to present the Don Elliott Memorial Trophy and prizes.

In the O'Donnell-Holtham tilt it was a close match the whole way. O'Donnell's rink was leading 7-4 at the end of the seventh when Skipper Holtham came through with a four-end to move out in front 8-7. On the following end Pilot O'Donnell guided his rink to a three-end and take over the lead again. In the ninth end O'Donnell's foursome gathered two more to lead 12-8 going home. Sedgman Retains His Australian Net Crown

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 30.—(P)—Frank Sedgman, Davis Cup player, retained his Australian singles tennis title today by whipping young Ken McGregor of Victoria, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, in the final.

McGregor, who had swept through the tourney without losing a set before coming up against the more experienced internationalist, was no match for Sedgman.

Spotting a weakness in McGregor's forehand, Sedgman attacked continually.

However, McGregor who has a booming service—and the strokes to back it up—was virtually assured a berth on the Australian Davis Cup this year, which last week challenged the United States.

The American pair of Doris Hart, Jacksonville, Fla., and Louise Brought, Beverly Hills, Calif., won the women's doubles title by stopping Australia's top pair of Nancy Bolton and Thelma Long, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. Miss Brought won the singles title Saturday.
